Move of Teutons to Get Round British Troops is Frustrated by Field Marshal's Army

COMMITTS SUICIDE AFTER MINE DEAL GOES WRONG

Joseph Brulotte Dies by Own Hand in Savoy Hotel—Believed to Be Prospector From Hudson's Hope, B.C., and That He Took Dose Strychnine Because Business Failed.

Dependent, it is believed owing to the failure of a projected business enterprise, Joseph Brulotte, a mining prospector from Hudson's Hope, B.C., committed suicide in the Savoy hotel early Sunday morning by taking strychnine.

The body was found lying on the bed by the hotel clerk and nearby was a half empty jarred which was discovered to be a mixture of strychnine and sugar. The police were at once communicated with and, after making an examination of the corpse was conveyed to Connelly and McKelney's undertaking parlors, where it still lies pending an investigation.

Says 150,000 Russians are in France Ready to Attack German Troops in Rear

American Writer Just Back From England States Thousands More Arriving in Old Land Via Archangel and Arctic Ocean—British Government Suspends Regular Train Service to Give Cosacks Right of Way.

New York, Sept. 7.—Russian troops to the number of 150,000 have been passed through England and are now at the rear of the German army in France, according to Vance Thompson, an American writer, who arrived here yesterday on the Red Star liner Koonah, which sailed from Liverpool on Saturday. On that day, Mr. Thompson said he saw detachments of Cosacks on their way to the channel.

JUMP IN AND GET GERMAN TRADE IS FOSTER'S ADVICE

Points Out Great Chance for Dominion to Profit by Enemies' Loss.

PARTLY COMPENSATE THE COSTLY WAR SACRIFICE
Teutons Last Year Ranked Third for Trade With This Country.

Ottawa, Sept. 7.—The weekly report of the department of trade and commerce, just out, contains an appeal by Sir Geo. R. Foster to Canadian producers to jump in and secure for themselves at least a part of the immense trade which Germany and Austria are losing as a result of the war. Mr. Foster says:

"Canadians are intensely interested in the economic struggle now staged on the battlefields of Europe. It is being fought out and there will be decided the mastery of the old world—the industrial system of the west—the question of liberty and democratic government in Europe. Though primarily a quarrel between these great European powers, it has developed into a war for the existence, integrity and supremacy of the British empire. The British empire is now, or soon will be, represented on the battlefield by troops from the motherland, Canada, Newfoundland, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa. Involved in this war is the question of commercial ocean transport and overseas trade. For years Germany has made superhuman efforts towards building up a great industrial system at home and a vast overseas trade with its attendant strong commercial marine.

"Under present war conditions she has lost for the time being nearly all this trade, her industrial production has been reduced and her commercial trade has been swept from the seas. What this means to Germany we call a total loss during the continuance of the war, and a long period of struggle after ending peace to regain even a part of her former proud and profitable position, and a probable total loss of her expensive and hardly bought colonial possessions. What we do not so clearly see is that this immense void

Sensation Caused in Vancouver at Result of Factional Fray.

PRIEST IS DEAD AND TWO MORE WILL DIE

Shooting Done by Employee of Dominion Immigration Department.

Vancouver, Sept. 7.—Bhram Singh, Sikh priest, was killed, and eight Sikhs were wounded, two of whom will probably die, in a shooting affray which took place in the holy precincts of the Sikh temple at Kilsyth, a residential section of the city, Saturday night. The shooting was done by Bela Singh, a Hindu in the employ of the Dominion immigration department, and in but another chapter of the factional war that has been raging ever since the immigration official denied the right of entry to the Hindus who came from Shanghai on board the Komatara last May. Two men prominent in assisting the government at that time were found dead last week, one with his throat cut, while the other was shot last Thursday night.

About 40 Sikhs had gathered in the temple Saturday night to pray for the soul of Arjan Singh, who was shot. Bela Singh entered the place, and during the excitements, it is said that threats were made against his life. He sprang to his feet, drew two automatic revolvers from his pockets and commenced to shoot. His first victim was Bhram Singh, the priest, who fell with a bullet through his lungs, and another through his abdomen. He died Sunday afternoon at the hospital. There was a general stampede out of the temple and as the Hindus scattered and ran for the exit, the frenzied Sikh continued to shoot. Utam Singh and Bada Singh, who were shot through the lungs, will both die.

A squad of police under Inspector Scott and immigration Inspector Hunkinson rushed to the place in an ambulance and managed to pick up 16 of the Hindus. The wounded were hurried to the hospital, where three of them were found to be mortally hurt. They affirmed that Bela Singh had shot without provocation. Bela Singh was arrested. He made no effort to escape.

A later despatch says: "Two hundred direct survivors of the Wilson liner Runo, which struck a mine in the North Sea and was sunk, have been landed at Grimsby. About 80 lives were lost."

Enemy Driven Back.
London, Sept. 7.—The official information bureau made public today a summary of the situation in France. It says that five quiet days since the action of September 1 have been occupied by the British army with refitting and the consolidation of units. The British army is now south of the Marne in line with the French on the right and left. The French army it is stated defeated three German corps driving their back in disorder near Guise on August 29.

London, Sept. 7.—The official statement says that the British successfully guarded the left flank of the whole line of the French army until the seventh and fifth armies of the French came into operation on the British left and right. The French reinforcements greatly relieved the strain and pressure on the allies' left wing.

Said German Lines Turned.
London, Sept. 7.—(3:42 a.m.)—A despatch to the Times sent from Boulogne today says that the mayor of that city is reported to have received a telegram this morning stating that General Joffre had succeeded in turning the German lines and that Sir John French had gotten around the left of the German army. The German troops at Lille left hurriedly yesterday.

Salient Features of Today's War News

The allied armies defending the roads to Paris have again come into contact with the German right wing on the banks of the river Grand Morin, which runs east and west somewhat south of the Paris line.

An official statement issued by the French war office says that the allies advanced, the troops came into touch with German forces which seem to be covering on the river Ourcq, towards the southwest, the movement of the main body of the German right wing and a small engagement resulted in an advantage to the French.

The town of Mauberge, where it is reported British troops are assisting the French garrison, is said to be still resisting the German assault.

From Berlin by way of Amsterdam comes the report that the Germans are attacking the forts at Nancy and that Emperor William and the general staff are watching the operations.

The British war information bureau has issued a long statement of the operations of the British army during the past week and in addition a list of British casualties which shows a total of more than 15,000 men up to September 1.

The statement which is based on a report from Field Marshal Sir John French, commander of the British forces at the front, speaks highly of the spirit of the British soldiers and their achievements. It declares that while the British losses are heavy they are not one-third of the losses inflicted by the British troops on the Germans. The statement closes with a call for more men.

Berlin reports that 3,000 British prisoners have reached Dabritz.

A bombardment was begun of the fortifications at Cattaro, an Austro-Hungarian sea port by the French fleet and advice from Cetinje claim the Montenegrin troops have defeated the Austrians at rejoinings to September 1.

France is calling out the 1913 recruits and in this way will add 250,000 men to her forces within a few months.

The German reichstag, represented by members of all parties, has promised its full support to whatever measures the minister of marine deems necessary. Appropriations will be made for the replacement of the ships which have been lost and to carry out the program of construction already arranged.

The British steamer Runo, of the Wilson line, with hundreds of passengers aboard has foundered in the North sea after striking a mine. Most of those aboard were saved.

Russian official announcements describe a strong offensive movement against the Austrians on September 4. The 4th Austrian regiment of infantry surrendered, 1600 men being taken. German troops marching to the aid of the Austrians were attacked but the result of these operations has not been made known.

Passengers on several steamers from England recently have reported a movement of Russian troops through the British Isles to the continent.

DEPARTMENT CIVIC RELIEF HAS WAYS FOR ALL TO AID

Those Having Vegetables,
Clothing, etc., Advised What They May Do.

The city relief department has contributed the following suggestions for the citizens to act upon toward relieving any cases of poverty or want that may exist:

"The gravity of the war situation is being felt probably more keenly at the office of the civic relief department than anywhere else in the city. Each day of prolonged need, with the necessary help, is making the department more sensitive to the reality of those in distress. The circle is widening. Families who have enjoyed the comforts which prosperous times yield, are now being forced to ask for the very necessities of life. Winter is not yet here, but for parents the overshadowing thought is, how to meet the actual needs of the home now. The seriousness of this great conflict of arms into which we are plunged as a nation, is of absorbing interest to every thoughtful person, but after all the daily bread for wife and child is a troublesome undertone for many more than some of us are aware of. We tremble to forecast the suffering of the winter, should those who have the wherewithal at their command forget to show their patriotism at this crisis now thrust upon us.

"We have given our noble young men, and more are ready to follow when asked for, but for those of us who are left at the home base, a patriotism expressed in a timely helping hand will surely merit a share in the glory of empire at such a time as this. Think of the

"1. Reserves called to the front, leaving wives and children. Volunteers for defence on empire, also leaving wives and children and other dependents.

"2. The closing down or curtailment of business and the inevitable sequel—numbers thrown out of work.

"3. Broken labor conditions throughout the past winter, and at the back of that, the wholly inadequate supply of work obtainable since January of this year until now.

"4. Cost of living, rent, clothing, boots, etc., for the children.

"The relief department has risen to its peculiar function. Not only general distress is being met by the supply of staples, but the burden of assisting the wives and children of the brave men gone to the war is being sympathetically assumed, in harmony with the usual business rules governing its operations.

"The question is, what can the citizens do to help relieve the condition we are facing? We offer the following suggestions:

"(a) The relief department has made arrangements to receive vegetables and store them in a suitable place, from whence they can be distributed to those in need throughout the winter. Citizens who have more than they need for their own consumption in the way of garden stuff, let them acquaint Mr. Turnbull at once, and arrangements can be made to collect what they have to offer.

"(b) We can now assure farmers, who may not be able to extend any financial help towards the situation, that they will spend their winter in greater comfort if they know they have done their best to meet the special emergency. Potatoes, roots, peas, beans, vegetable marrow, etc., will be received most gratefully. Call up Mr. Turnbull and discuss it with him.

"(c) We have scarcely any clothing left in our store room. Cast off your old clothes, if they are in any way acceptable. Men's women's, children's boots, rubbers, stockings, mitts, caps, etc.

"(d) May we point out also that those who are out shooting are respectfully asked to bear in mind the equipment, and we will be sincerely grateful for all kinds of game. Cold storage is in readiness to receive all that will come. Get in touch with Mr. Turnbull at once and help lighten his burden.

"Can there not be a great enthusiasm of help spread throughout the city. Surely the clouds will lift. This is practical patriotism at home. Mr. Turnbull's phone is 1485, or the general office 2671."

GERMANS CHANGE TIME IN BELGIUM TO AGREE WITH THEIR CLOCKS

London, Sept. 7.—(8:10 a.m.)—A despatch to the Central News from Amsterdam reports that the Germans have changed the time of the Belgian clocks alternating them one hour to synchronize with the German clock. When Belgian citizens protested, General von Der Goltz replied:

Regina, Sept. 7.—After giving Paddock a cinch on the penman by falling down badly in their series up there, the Moose Jaw Weeds came to Regina and proceeded to appropriate several place for themselves by taking three straight. So encouraged was the big Weeds with the success of Southpaw Concannon on Friday, that he sent another port aside, Andrada, back at the 8:10 men on Saturday, and kept him in there until he had hung up a pair of wins against such reliable heavyweights as Jimmy Ryan and Joe Berger.

Besides totalling in fine form Andrada's batting was the big offensive feature in the first game. He made two doubles and a single. A weird decision at the plate by Umpire Wheeler also helped the victors.

Joe Berger held the Weeds to five hits in the second game, but Morse, who has been nothing at second for Manager Stie, kicked in a couple of runs with a couple of costly errors.

Austrians, Admitting Route, Ask Germans to Send Guns to Galicia

Rome, Sept. 7.—(1:40 a.m.)—A news despatch from Vienna says that the defeat at Lemberg was a rout of the whole Austrian army operating in Galicia and that the only hope now is in the German contingent, which is congesting all the railway lines toward the north eastern frontier. It is asserted that the Austrian general staff is urging the Germans to dispatch some of their 420 millimetre guns to Galicia.

Official reports from Petrograd say that, although the defeat of the Russian army at Tannenberg was regrettable, it is serving only to stimulate the fervor of the troops and the army and the government to multiply their efforts for final success, which the whole nation considers inevitable, so the Germans, in making what was perhaps their most strenuous attempt, disrupted only one-twentieth part of the Russian army.

What Causes Wrinkles?
What's The Remedy?

Stop to consider what produces wrinkles and wrinkles of skin. Premature aging, indigestion, etc., cause the flesh to sink, lose its youthful plumpness and firmness. The skin then is too far from the flesh underneath, doesn't fit tightly, and sinks as it used to in wrinkles or sag.

It may be plain that to tighten the skin, make it fit, to face perfectly in every place, will effectively remove the wrinkles, lines, and looseness. This is easily and handsomely accomplished by using a half pint of witch hazel and using the solution as a face lotion. The ingredients you can get at any drug store. The result is surprising. The skin immediately tightens up, becoming firm and fresh again. Every wrinkle and sag is affected at once.

EDMONTON CITY DAIRY TAKES
FIRST OF INTER-CITY SERIES

Score 4 to 1—Erwin, Local Pitcher is Hero of Contest, Making Three Hits and Twirling Fine Contest—Play at Calgary on Labor Day.

By the score of four to one the Edmonton City Dairy defeated the Calgary Athletics on Saturday in the first game of a series to decide the amateur baseball championship of Alberta. It was a fine game to watch, the issue being open to doubt all the way through, and the large crowd of spectators present went away satisfied that they had got their money's worth.

Erwin, the Dairy twirler, was the hero of the contest. Not only did he pitch magnificent ball all the way through, but he was the best runner on the field. Out of four times he registered three bases, one of them a wallop to right field for three bases.

Martin, the carrot topped third baseman also did good work, handling all his chances perfectly and coming second in batting for his team.

Outside of one inning Lundberg, the Athletics' heavier, did fair work, and on the whole was given fair support. In that inning, however, he pitched for four hits, resulting in three runs, as it turned out, more than enough to win the game.

Calgary got away to a good start, French, the second man up, hitting cleanly. He was brought around by Howe and McNab, notching the first and last counter for his side. In the next inning Erwin struck out three, three men who faced him, and from then on did not encounter any serious trouble, although he did have a narrow escape in the ninth, the Athletics starting a rally, which, however, proved futile.

Edmonton first touched the score board in the third, Erwin leaning onto the pill for three cushions and coming home when Martin singled cleanly to center. Hentley sacrificed and then Rennie and Shapp hit in succession, bringing the total count up to three. Worth went out to Erwin and Lundberg issued a pass to Riley. Lundberg issued the joyfest by flying out to McSpadden.

With two gone in the sixth, Erwin shouldered and was brought around by Martin's two bager, Martin apparently had an idea he could stretch the base into three bases, but he changed his mind and was caught trying to get back to second.

The Athletics were hard to start something in the ninth, when Riley was safe on an error. Rowe hit safely, advancing Riley to third, and McNab, failed to Martin, who caught Riley between second and third. The next two men went out, each by a different plying to left and Johnson taking three whiffs, ending the game.

The game came to a close on a Labor day, weather permitting.

In addition to their regular line-up the Dairy will take Murphy and Nicodemus, the Whitehouse's battery, as it may be necessary to play a double-header in the southern city.

BOBBY WALLACE

ED. COLLINS AND SWIFTS TRIUMPH
BAKER ARE BEST OVER SCOTCHMEN
CLEAN-UP HITTERS

Philadelphia Combination is More Valuable Than Cobb-Crawford.

By defeating the Callies on Saturday evening the Swifts football team reached the finals of the Charity shield competition, the score at the call of time standing 1 to 0.

Connie Mack has the best hitting clean-up in the American league, Eddie Collins and Frank Baker hit, a combination 32, as against the 236 of the Tiger duo of Cobb and Crawford.

They lead despite the fact that Cobb individually is hitting better than Baker, and Crawford is hitting better than Collins. The cause of this seeming contradiction is the few games in which Tyrus has participated.

Cobb's 242 represents but 53 hits in 155 at bats. Baker's 240 with made with 103 swings in 203 times up. Crawford is legitimately ahead of Collins but the Mack pair has 196 hits in 157 at bats, while the Tigers have but 151 hits in 162 at bats.

The absence of Tyrus should give the Mackmen a big edge in extra bases, but the average hitting of Crawford lets the Tigers have 78 to the Athletics' 69. Another pair, however, joins in and takes first honors in extra base hits from the Tigers.

This is the Walker-Williams combination of the league, the only other pair with 200 arrangements in the league. In 121 at bats these two have made 153 hits for an average of .365. Crawford Walker has naturally done the heavy work, but when it came to hard hitting the Williams did his share and the two have grabbed 53 extra bases.

After the St. Louis pair, comes Washington with Milan and Randall. They have a joint mark of 284, with 119 hits in 552 at bats. Boston, with Speaker and Lewis, has a 281 set, this representing 155 hits in 551 at bats. Demmitt and John Collins of the White Sox can show only a percentage of .271. In 515 at bats they grabbed 116 hits.

FIND BRITISH TOO HARD NUT TO CRACK; ATTEMPT TO CRUSH EASTERN FORCE

Unexpected Swing of the Teutons Ascertained Promptly by British Aeroplanes and Allied Lines Immediately Adjusted—Flanks Are Now Protected by the Fortresses of Paris which is Considered Decided Advantage—Stated by Rome Paper that 250,000 Russians Are Now in France Ready to Attack Kaiser's Men on the Rear.

London, Sept. 8. (9:40 a.m.)—The public is waiting, breathless, with the hope that the allies have finally taken the offensive, but the cautious tone of the official communications issued from France indicate that the forward movement of the allies is only a feint to ascertain the reason for the strange eastward swing of the German right.

No matter, however, what the forward movement may mean, a decisive battle cannot be long postponed. Meantime, the western valley of the Seine, recently overrun by Germans, has been cleared of the enemy and has been given a breathing spell. The unexpected swing of the Germans has caused a readjustment of the lines of the allies. The movement of the Germans was ascertained so promptly by the aeroplanes of the allies that abundant time was given for the shift.

Ranks Are Reinforced
It is evident that the Germans now have, before the front of their wedge-like advance, the veterans of the allies' left wing, which underwent a terrific battering along the Franco-Belgian border. The ranks of these Franco-Belgian forces have been reinforced and the losses have been replaced.

Another advantage enjoyed by the allies is the fact that their flanks are protected by the great fortresses of Paris and Verdun while in the German rear, Maubeuge is still held by the French despite the fall of three of its fortresses. In the eastern theater, General Ruzsky's "Stonewall Jackson" tactics have been checked by the strong fortress of Przemyśl but this delay will not prevent the general forward movement of the Russian forces along the border from Tilsit to Lemberg.

The Russians consider it necessary, however, to capture Przemyśl so that the Austrians may not have a single stronghold in Galicia.

Russians Advancing Rapidly
Remarkable reports continue to come in regarding the speed of General Ruzsky's campaign. The soldiers slept on an average of three hours nightly and made 35 miles daily.

It is evident from reports received in Petrograd that the Austrians expected to make a long resistance at Lemberg, having accumulated stores sufficient to last a year. All these stores have fallen into the hands of the Russians enabling them to quicken their march without waiting for the transport trains.

Line of Battle Changed.
London, Sept. 8.—(2:25 a.m.)—

"There has been a complete change in the aspect of the line of battle in France within the past 48 hours," says the Havre correspondent of the Morning Post. "During the first half of last week the entire valley of the Seine from Paris to Havre was closely menaced by the Germans. This menace has suddenly been frustrated and the Germans seem to have disappeared from that section."

The complete manner in which the Germans last week penetrated into the valley of the Seine is shown by consultation of the map. The Germans held Havre and their cavalry outposts had reached as far as Pointoise, Reuilly and Harfleur. A line drawn through the three cities is virtually a straight line from Paris to Havre.

Don't Like British.
"Suddenly come the changed aspect. The Germans abandoned the lower Seine valley and they stopped their western sweeping movement. Why? I have no hesitation in asserting that this was due in a large measure to the British action south of Chantilly after the battle at Compiègne in which terrible losses were inflicted upon the Germans. The British burned the forest of Compiègne which met with sentimental objections from the French, but action was effective in driving the large forces of Germans from cover."

"The Germans have come to recognize the British as a particularly hard nut to crack and this has saved the Seine for the time being. The Germans found a better game to the east than their effort against the British which merely meant the sacrificing of thousands of German lives."

"The Germans are sweeping around to crush the eastern forces of the French as between the jaws of a nutcracker. This horizon center upon annihilating the French army of the east and devouring Paris at their leisure."

Russian Troops in France
Rome, Sept. 8.—(Via London)—12:45 p.m.—According to the Rome Tribune there is in France today a total of 250,000 Russian troops. This newspaper attributes Emperor William's presence at Metz to this concentration of the Russians.

Many Will Return.
London, Sept. 8.—(5:12 a.m.)—A despatch to the Reuters telegram company from Paris, reviewing the situation in that quarter says:

"Official statements regarding the situation of the front indicate that the French had advanced about ten miles up to noon Monday. This latest news from the front has produced an excellent impression in Paris."

"Unofficial news and that brought back by soldiers returning from the front is even more encouraging than the official statements and the people are confident that things could not be going better for the success of the French arms."

"Paris has undoubtedly lost a large proportion of its population, but the return of many of those who have departed during the last few days is confidently expected."

ESTIMATED 82,000 MEN TAKEN BY RUSSIANS AT RECENT LEMBERG FIGHT

London, Sept. 8. (4:50 a.m.)—A telegram from Petrograd to the Reuters Telegram says it is estimated that 82,000 prisoners taken in recent battles in the Austrian frontier, of whom 12,000 came from the Austrian center, have all been sent to the interior government of Russia, and that there is difficulty in knowing how to dispose of them.

A Reuters special correspondent traveling over the whole of the western frontier, telegraphs that in Belgium and all other towns voluntary militia are organizing for the purpose of transporting and feeding the wounded. The ladies' committee, comprising Christians and Jewish, are working hand-in-hand in the women's work. All are laboring devotedly, it is said, in the common cause.

The wounded are being brought in by train. Among those arriving yesterday were two Irish troops, who, separated from their regiment during the fight at Compiègne, could not be traced.

Agents of Kaiser Traveling in Scandinavia Offer High Prices.

IMPORT DUTY IS ALSO
REMOVED ON PROVISIONS

Danes Say English Regular Customers and Will Supply Them First.

London, Sept. 8. (2:20 a.m.)—The Standard states that the Germans are making a desperate attempt to deprive the United Kingdom of provisions supplied by the Scandinavian countries.

German agents, it says, are now traveling through Norway, Sweden and Denmark, offering prices twenty per cent. higher than those carried by British contractors. To aid this attack the German government has removed the import duty on provisions.

The English merchants are concerned less than the Danish merchants, influenced by German high prices, should divert some of their trade to Germany, such practices, they state, is contrary to the established trade principle of giving preference to a regular customer in time of stress.

SAVES BRITISH DESTROYER SINKS GERMAN TORPEDOES

Paris, Sept. 1.—A Havas agency despatch from Petrograd says that the "Novos Vremya" has received a message from Tokyo stating that the British destroyer Villard has sunk several torpedo boats.

people are confident that things could not be going better for the success of the French arms.

"Paris has undoubtedly lost a large proportion of its population, but the return of many of those who have departed during the last few days is confidently expected."

London, Sept. 8. (3:40 a.m.)—A despatch to the Express from Amsterdam says:

"According to a Berlin message, statements made by members of the German navy on the subject of naval expansion point to the building of twelve torpedo boat divisions, six airship divisions, a number of mine layers, and other craft. The rapid construction of three large warships and two smaller cruisers is also advocated."

CORONATION OF POPE IS STRIKING SCENE

Rome, Sept. 7.—The coronation of Pope Benedict XV. took place yesterday in the Sistine chapel. The Sistine chapel was used for the occasion in order to avoid pomp during the war.

It is in progress. The scene with Pope Benedict was a striking one. When the ceremony was over the pope was received with loud acclaim by those present.

It may be added that a number of women in the city are doing the same—offering homes for men, in return for any assistance that the latter may be willing to give.

IF GERMANS USE BATTLE SITUATION OF ARMY CRITICAL

Paris, Sept. 8.—(4:40 a.m.)—Paris is optimistic this morning. Even the surprise at finding that the Germans have been able to traverse almost the entire Champagne country does not shake confidence in the outcome of the great battle, which, after all the manoeuvres, is being fought on ground selected by General J. Joffre, the French commander-in-chief. The famous turning movement of the Germans has finally resulted in a battle formation that puts their own right in jeopardy as yesterday a distinct success on the left.

As far as may be inferred from the meagre official news, the army, now called the army of Paris, must be acting as an independent force, holding the convex side of a curved battle line and free to menace the communication of the enemy. News already coming in from the wounded show the allies getting a distinct success on the left, the enemy suffering greatly while trying to cross the river Marne.

As far as positions were finally the French 3-inch guns demolished them before they could be utilized. The wounded are being brought in by train. Among those arriving yesterday were two Irish troops, who, separated from their regiment during the fight at Compiègne, could not be traced.

The general opinion of the morning papers is that the allies may lose the battle and still make the siege of Paris difficult for the enemy while if the Germans lose the situation of their entire army in France would be critical.

FARMER WOMEN OFFER ASSISTANCE TO GIRLS

A number of Edmonton women are meeting every day in the women's peace room to help and comfort with the unemployed girls' situation. At present the ladies are just making up statistics, taking the addresses of people who will offer homes as well as the addresses of girls who in the emergency have been "let out" of their offices and who have nothing before them but the cheerful prospect of living on their little earnings during the winter.

The following is a list of ladies living out in the country who have offered homes to such girls, and in return will expect their proteges to take a hand in the household duties so that obligations, being thus discharged, will be eliminated: Mrs. W. J. Hodgins, North Edmonton, lives eight miles out in the country; will give a home and dress or $5 a month for that purpose.

Mrs. Lettan, Bender Riding, will give $7 a month and home for the winter. There is no cooking to be done.

Mrs. Ed. Auld, Chignou, twenty-five miles from town, will pay $10 a month.

Mrs. Crawford, living 150 miles in the country, offers a home to a young girl in return for light housework, but no wages will be paid.

Mrs. E. E. Oxen, Poncha, who lives in the country, will be very glad to offer a home to a nice girl who wishes to go. Fare down will be paid.

Any lady wishing to take in a girl as a companion helper, or on any other terms is asked to communicate with Mrs. A. M. Calderon, 523 10th street, or Miss McKenney, the Bulletin. Girls who wish to do something along these lines are requested to do so.

It will not be right for me to indicate a position which enables our forces to hold the eastern approach to Paris. It is a wonderful sight to pass the monuments of the city, where other monuments of war, is a park of British aeroplanes, which are of vital importance to the cause.

Situation Around Paris Is Now Much Better; All Confident Will Not Fall

Few Days Ago it Seemed Impossible to Avert Tragedy, Says War Correspondent—Obsessed with Idea that Enemy Would Attack City from the East, French, it is Said, Made Almost Fatal Error, but This Has Now Been Rectified—Describes Awful Scenes when Refugees Left Gay City—

(By Philip Gibbs.)
St. Pierre, St. Vallery, Sept. 8.

England received a hint yesterday as to a change in the German campaign, but only those who have been, as I have, into the very heart of this monstrous horror of war, seeing the flight of hundreds of thousands of people before an overwhelming enemy and following the lines of the allied armies in their steady retirement before an apparently irresistible advance, may realize even dimly the meaning of the amazing transformation that has happened during the last few days.

For when I wrote my last despatch from Arcis la Daulais, after my adventures along the French and English lines, it seemed as inevitable as the rising of the next day's sun that the German army would enter Paris on the very day when I wrote my despatch. Still not a single shot has been sent on the French fortifications.

Million Men March on Paris.
At least a million men—that is no exaggeration of a light pen, but the sober and actual truth—were advancing steadily upon the capital last Tuesday. They were close to Beauvais when I escaped from what was then a death trap. They were fighting our British troops at Creil when I came to that town. Upon the following day they were holding our men in the forest of Compiègne. They had been as close to Paris as the Marne, almost within gunshot of the outer forts.

"Nothing seems to stop them," said many soldiers when I approached them and kill them, but still they come on.

The situation seemed to me almost ready for the supreme tragedy, the capture and destruction of Paris. The northwest of France lays very open to the enemy, advanced as it is, with such as Abbeville and Amiens and is too lightly held by mixed army corps of French and British troops with their headquarters at Amiens.

Here was an easy way to Paris. Almost Fatal Error.
Always obsessed with the idea that the Germans must come from the east, the almost fatal error of this war, the French had guarded Paris with almost impenetrable forts on the east side, from those of Meuse and Montreuil, by the far flung forts of Chelles and Chantilly to those of Saisy and Villeneuve on the outer limits of the triple curtain, but on the west side, between Pontoise and Versailles, the defenses of Paris were weak. I say were, for during the last few days thousands of men have been digging trenches and throwing up ramparts. Only the snake-like Seine, twisting into a P-shaped form a natural defense, and the western approach to the city, none too secure against the men who have crossed many rivers in their desperate assault.

Significance of New Advances.
But let me describe the new significance of the German advance. Their right army has struck down to the southeast of Paris through Chantilly, Thiers, to La Ferté-Macaire and beyond. The center army is coming hard down from Troyes in the department of the Aube, and the army on the left has forced the French to evacuate.

It will not be right for me to indicate a position which enables our forces to hold the eastern approach to Paris. It is a wonderful sight to pass the monuments of the city, where other monuments of war, is a park of British aeroplanes, which are of vital importance to the cause.

A Menacing Maneuver.
Looking therefore at the extraordinary transformation throughout the field of war in France, among the things stands out clear and distinct, having ing been thwarted in their purpose to walk into Paris by the enormous forces massed on their flanks, the Germans have adopted an entirely new plan of campaign and have thrust their armies deep down into the center of France in order to divide the western armies of the allies from the army on the eastern frontier. It is a menacing maneuver and it cannot be hidden the army of Lorraine is in danger of being cut off by the enemy's armies on the left. At the same time the German right is swinging around in a southeasterly direction in order to attack the allied forces on the east and south. Paris is thus left out of account for the time being, but it depends upon issues of the next few days whether the present peril will be averted from it by the immense army now protecting it.

I believe in spirit of our own troops and their French comrades is no splendid ideal that with their new strength will be equal to that formidable attack. Nothing certainly is being left to chance. For miles around Paris trenches are being dug in the yards and little section trenches on the broad roads of France, first one on this side of the way and then on another, so that a motor car travelling along the road has to drive in a series of sharp curves to avoid pitfalls.

There was fearful activity on the west side of the Paris fortifications when I passed between St. Germain and St. Denis.

Barbed wire is constantly being thrown up between the forts and the triple curvatures of the Seine are being strengthened so that it may take the form of a defence against any attack.

Fled From Sanctuaries.
Here also were thousands of poor people who lived on a few francs a week in the top attic on the Paris streets, which Balzac knew; had fled from their poor sanctuaries and seen of them were still carrying cats and canaries as dear to them as their own lives, but sat on the balcony (a ledge) weeping silently, outbidding younger ones to go forward and look to their fate.

Young women who had stepped out so jauntily at first were footsore and lame, so they limped along with lines of pain about their lips and eyes. Many of the taxicabs bought at auction were broken down when I passed and had been abandoned by their owners, who had decided to walk. Farmers' carts had rolled into ditches and had their wheels broken. Wheelbarrows, heavy to be trundled, had been filled up with all their household goods spilled into the roadway, and the men had been carried farther, until at last darkness came and then their only shelter was a haystack in a field under the harvest moon.

Peril Had Passed.
The people I met looked perfectly calm. There were a few children playing in the gardens of Champs Elysees, and under the Arc de Triomphe, symbols of the glory of France. I looked back at the beauty of Paris, all golden in the light of the setting sun, with its glistening spires and white gleaming palaces, rays of light flashing in front of the golden trophies of its monuments. Paris still subsists. No shell had come shattering into its city of splendor, and I thanked heaven that for a little while the peril had passed.
